

ACCELERATING GROWTH THROUGH U.S. - ISRAEL STRATEGIC PARTNERSHIPS

BIRD Foundation Call for Proposals

To be considered, a project proposal should include:

- R&D cooperation between two, unrelated companies, one registered in the U.S. and the other in Israel. The companies should jointly apply for BIRD support
- Research and development topics that include but are not limited to: Advanced Manufacturing, Agrotechnology, Cleantech and Environment, Communications, Construction Tech, Electronics, FinTech, Gas, Healthcare IT, Homeland Security and Cyber Security, Life Sciences and Bio-Convergence, Software, Water and Wastewater technologies, etc.
- A jointly developed technology or product(s) that shows considerable innovation
- A proposed project that demonstrates significant commercial potential

BIRD funds up to 50% of the R&D costs associated with the joint project.

The maximum conditional grant per project is up to US $1 million; the BIRD Board of Governors may exercise its discretion to increase the award up to US $1.5 million for exceptional proposals* *contingent on the quality of the proposal and available funding.
